

Paediatric Gastroenterology & Surgery Symposium: Crohn's Disease

Heartbeat Suite, University Hospital Southampton

Tuesday 23rd April 2013 9.30am-4pm

CPD: 6 Points (applied for)

Overview:

A one-day symposium aimed to help clinicians and nurses update and enhance their understanding of Crohn's disease in children and adolescents.

Why you should attend:

The faculty has national and international expertise in the clinical management of, and research into, Crohn's disease in children.

We will cover all aspects of management including medical treatments, radiology and surgery, as well as current research such as nutrition and genetics.

The symposium will include lectures, case presentations, videos and interactive discussion.

Dr Warren Hyer (Consultant Paediatric Gastroenterologist at St Mark's Hospitals Middlesex and Chelsea and Westminster Hospital, London) will deliver the keynote lecture entitled 'Polyposis in children: implications and management'

Who should attend:

The symposium is aimed at paediatricians with an interest in gastroenterology, paediatric surgeons, clinical nurse specialists, paediatric dieticians and nurses.

Sponsorship:

The symposium has been kindly sponsored by CICRA (Crohn's in children research association).

Course Directors:

Mr Michael Stanton	Consultant Paediatric Surgeon
Dr Mark Beattie	Consultant Paediatric Gastroenterologist (BSPGHAN president and editor of Archives of Diseases in Childhood)
Mr Simon Blackburn	Specialist Registrar in Paediatric Surgery
